

How to Learn Anything

The Japanese Way

1. SHUHARI

Master in 3 stages.

守 · 破 · 離

Shu — copy the basics.

Example: follow one proven course before improvising.

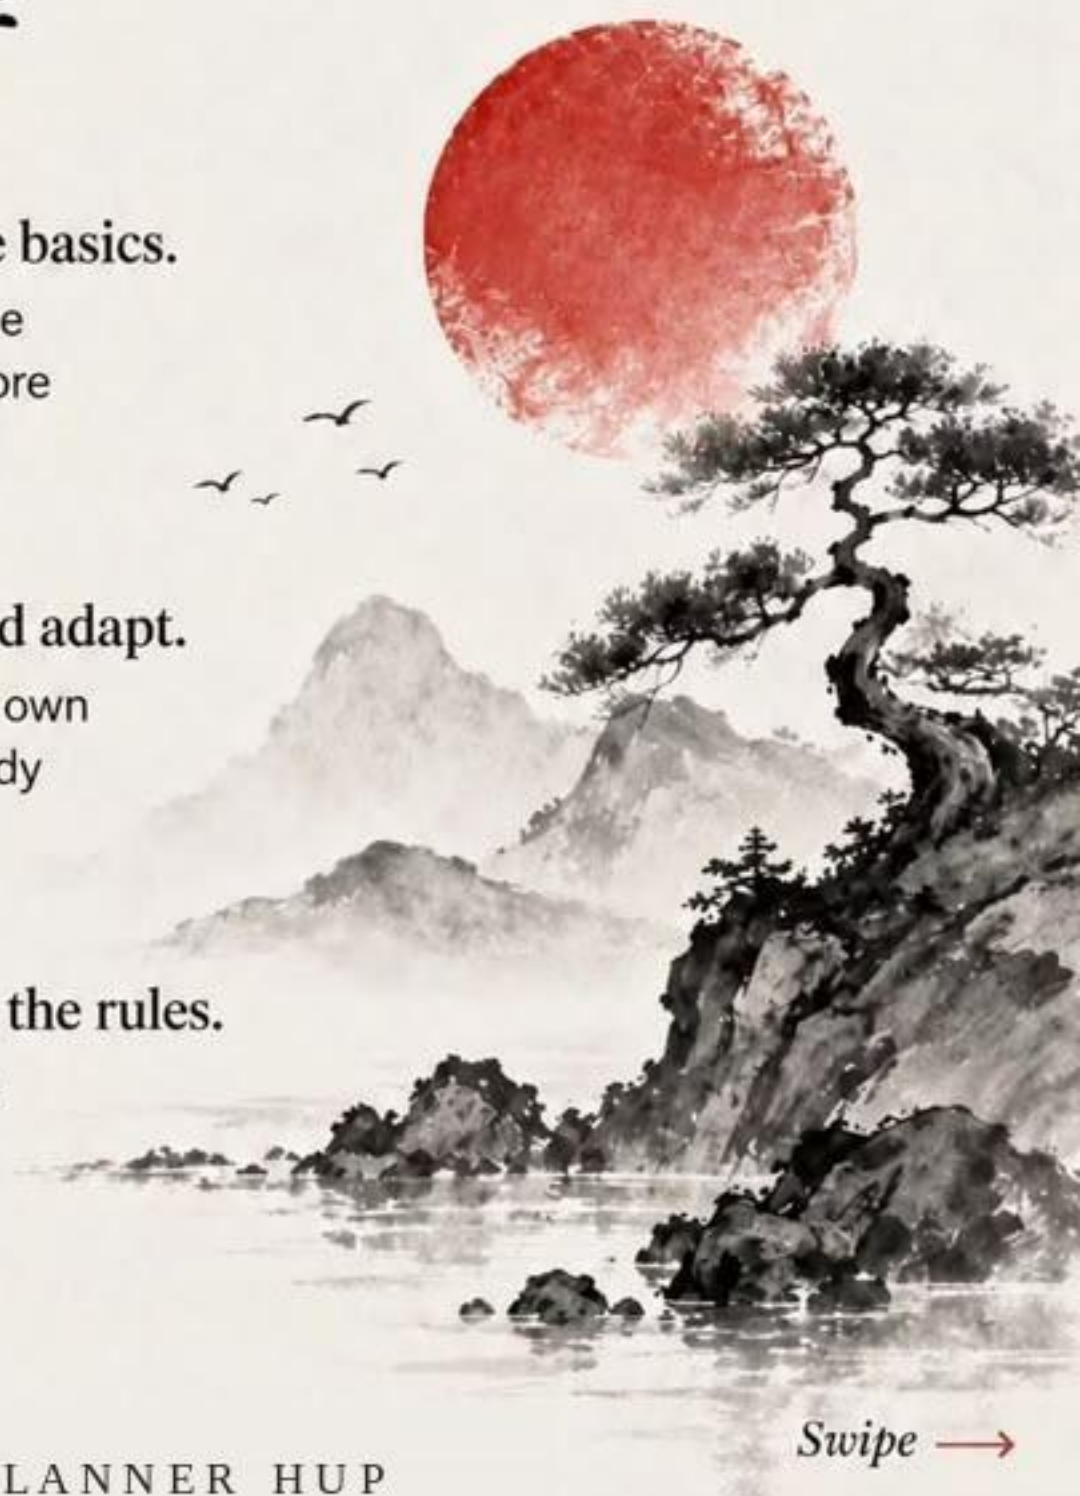

Ha — break and adapt.

Example: test your own note system or study schedule.

Ri — transcend the rules.

Example: combine techniques into your own style.

2. KAIZEN

Get 1% better every day.

Don't chase intensity.
Chase consistency.

- ✿ Read 2 pages instead of waiting for motivation.
- ✿ Review one concept before bed.
- ✿ Improve one weak spot each session.

Swipe →

3. KANBAN

Visualize what you need to learn.

TO LEARN	LEARNING	MASTERED
Python Statistics	Deep Work	Speaking

See the whole system.
Move one card at a time.
Finish before starting more.

4. HANSEI

Reflect. Improve. Repeat.

反省

What did I do well?

What confused me?

What will I change next time?

After a study session, write
3 bullets before you close your notebook.

5. SHOSHIN

Keep a beginner's mind.

Learning faster happens when you stop pretending to know.

- Ask basic questions.
- Explain the topic in plain language.
- Stay curious instead of trying to look smart.

“

Curiosity beats ego.

”

Swipe →

6. KINTSUGI MINDSET

Use mistakes as part of mastery.

Mistakes are not proof you're bad at learning.

- ✓ Mark errors.
- 🔍 Review why they happened.
- ✗ Repair the weak spot and keep going.

Progress > perfection.

Swipe →

Learn. Apply. Reflect. Repeat.

That's how skill becomes mastery.

SAVE THIS POST.

FOLLOW @THEPLANNERHUP

→..... Save for later